WINE

IF YOU'RE NOT IN THE MOOD FOR SPIRITS OUR STAFF WILL BE DELIGHTED TO HELP YOU NAVIGATE OUR SELECTION.

This month we are doing a wine takeover with one of Archie's oldest friends, James Audas. James is widely regarded as one of the wine industries best sommeliers, with a resume that features the likes of internationally acclaimed restaurants such as Noma, Waku Ghin and back home at Silvereye, Tetsuyas, Black by Ezard & Est to name a few. Two years ago James started to work with renowned Victorian winemaker William Downie.

Bill ignited his passion for crafting his own wines and A.R.C is the first individual expression of his foray into wine making guidance. A.R.C stands for A Random Collection - referring to the fact he sources his fruit from changing vineyards each year. James also owns an organic wine distribution company called LO-FI with his business partner Tom Sheer. Das Juice is a wine that the pair have collectively made together. The menu is rounded out by one of the producers that LO-FI represents in Deliquente.

The selection here typifies a mix of producers from the LO-FI wines family as well as from James's personal labels.

CRAFT BEER ACCOMPANYING SPIRITS IS AN UNASSUMING UNION THAT IS FAR TOO OFTEN OVERLOOKED. A REWARDING BOILERMAKER EXPERIENCE SHOULD ALLOW EACH BEVERAGE TO SING ITS OWN TUNE. WHEN COMBINED, THOSE SINGLE VOICES FORM A CHOIR CROONING IN PERFECT UNISON. IN THESE CONSIDERED MATCHINGS THE WHOLE IS GREATER THAN THE SUM OF ITS PARTS. THE RESULT IS A JOURNEY OF DISCOVERY.
